Final Proposal

The fictitious truth I would like to make my final project about Astrology. A lot of people believe in astrology including me but I would like to make a website introducing astrology as a cult like pseudoscience. I want to make the website seen as what most people who are against astrology view these astrology sites or how they view astrology as a whole. I want to make a very tone deaf informational website detailing astrology almost as if its a cult that isn't aware of itself. I also want the site to sound and use the same vocabulary as most astrology sites. I am very interested in astrology because astrology itself is a very popular study that has been used for thousands of years and is backed by billionaires. JP Morgan himself stated "Millionaires don't use astrology Billionaires do." For me astrology does a really great job at analyzing my life and predicting parts of my life that will happen and what my personality is like. Astrology does a great job at helping me realize aspects of myself and how to manage all the parts of me and use it to make myself better. When I figured out that astrology was more than just my birthday and that putting in my birthday, where I was born, and what time I was born helped me figure out so much information on astrology.

After looking at what my birth chart told me and helped me with and that the information I put to get my birth chart I could put in different things in astrology to develop more things about myself. Its extremely interesting because its like a secret cheat sheet to life personalized to you as a person, counting for your flaws and setbacks and how to get over them. I plan for the fictitious organization to be named Celestial connection. I plan for the organization to be a shady group that starts a cult to scam and or recruit others to join them. That they want to get as many followers in the belief of astrology and to scam others. They will offer services to teach others how to read and understand birth charts and other forms of astrology but the more complicated the form they would have others to pay to learn the method. This could become a benevolent untruth because the cult is using this site to lure in people to join their scam cult and to persuade to them that they have to scam others and make them believe in the higher power of astrology.

They want money because running a cult isn't cheap neither is having their own domain. They plan to buy their own mini mansion in the middle of the forest to hold month long retreats to properly induce people in their cult ideologies. But for now they have many different services on the site like tarot card readings, automated or with a real person. They include a yes or no automated for any simple questions that require a yes or no. There will be many parts on the site that educate on the many different forms of astrology and break them down completely so that anyone can understand it. The tone used in the texts will be very convincing and will purposely make it seem like the organization need their help and needs either their money or them or both :) . The site will have an about page about their organization as a whole their mission which will go into detail but not too much detail about them being a cult or anything like that.
